

Vasalgel Update

Dear Friend,

Today marks a significant milestone for male contraception and reproductive equity, and it could not come at a better time given the recent erosion of women's reproductive rights in the United States.

The NEXT Step for Vasalgel

The Parsemus Foundation and Revolution Contraceptives, LLC are pleased to announce that we have selected a mission-aligned partner to take Vasalgel male contraceptive on the rest of its journey to market.

After a decade of research on Vasalgel, it was clear that the reversible, long-lasting male contraceptive was ready to advance to the next level. The search began for an organization with the resources needed to lead the project through the next steps to the marketplace, including clinical trials and regulatory review. Elaine Lissner, founder and trustee of the Parsemus Foundation and lifelong advocate for male contraception, announced today the selection of NEXT Life Sciences, Inc. as that partner.

The mission of NEXT Life Sciences is to develop and distribute medical technology that empowers people to choose when and if to have a child. Founder and CEO L.R. Fox, a successful entrepreneur with a deep commitment to reproductive equality, has been recognized by Forbes "30 Under 30" as one of the brightest young leaders changing the world.

In addition to NEXT Life Sciences having the organizational and financial resources to successfully move Vasalgel to market, Fox and Lissner are aligned on the social mission of Vasalgel, a crucial element to the partnership. Ensuring that the product is widely available and affordable is built into Vasalgel's development plan.
